VI Practical Information

About Sharm El-Sheikh

Sharm el-Sheikh is one of the most accessible and developed tourist resort communities and beautiful shores on the Sinai Peninsula. Its privileged geographical location by the Red Sea sets a meeting place in the midst of the Middle East Region, where one can enjoy the best weather all year round, the simplicity of sea and, the mountains and the Bedouins' colorful tents. At Sharm el-Sheikh, one can find the luxury of five-star hotels, shopping and entertainment. It is often called the "City of Peace" because of the various peace conferences held in the city and attended by world leaders.

In Sharm el-Sheikh, we will enjoy being together in a healthy, professional and luxury environment enabling the excellent outcomes we all expect from The 6th African Internet Governance Forum (AfIGF).

Weather

December is the first month of winter in Sharm el-Sheikh, the daily weather remains reliably dry and sunny and rather warm. Daytime temperatures rise to an average maximum of 23°C, and fall to an average minimum of 15°C overnight, and are combined with generally low humidity, making December a good time of year to visit for tourists who are most comfortable with moderate warmth rather than heat. Temperatures rarely fluctuate by more than a few degrees either side of the long-term average, and the long-term averages thus give a good indication of what tourists can expect during a typical holiday. The expected temperatures during The 6th African Internet Governance Forum are:
